Minutes

- Daniel: Zuul / Vexhost in progress
- Daniel: Working with the broader LFN on integration
- Daniel: Working on getting docs repo integrated into Gerrit
- Daniel: Need to get GitHub org (from Juniper) transferred to make progress
- Edward: Blueprints in Jira?
 - Daniel: Still working through it with Sukhdev
 - Large import to get everything ported
- Edward: Can we create tickets in Jira?
 - Daniel: Yes!!! Just login using LF ID
- Darien: updates above 😊
 - Casey: there's no swag because of budget reduction, no swag this year unless we get some money for that
 - Randy: how much do we need? Casey: 2-3k? Randy: Juniper can do about 500-1k
 - Darien: hopefully can match
 - Darien: how to get <https://github.com/tungstenfabric/docs/pull/34> merged?
 - Randy: Just merge it unless opinions differ
- Edward: might be able to go to developer event in China

- Casey: LF doesn't know about this event, Phil is probably not available
- Casey: need better tracking of events so we can plan ahead
- Edward: Lenovo has people in China that cannot go to Stockholm
- Jim: team in shanghai that could be sent, but no one close to Stockholm
- Randy: short time to get people there, but adding new devs is a big win
- Edward: last event had a big sync up, hopefully TSC will let me represent at the event
 - silence means +1
- Casey: hopefully people can go to the Stockholm event to connect to other LFN communities
- Daniel: can we get access to the community calendar event
 - Casey, Daniel, Jennifer Fowler, tungstenfabric@gmail.com
 - Randy: let's add marketing group, TSC and whoever else wants
 - Casey: groups.io has better calendar support than google and with outlook
 - Randy: groups.io has better Chinese support than Google
- Action items:
 - Will: has some blockers on docker stuff
 - Jim: will go to community meeting or get a proxy
- Joint Release Management meeting
 - Casey: this doesn't exist yet. ONAP/ OPNFV are looking to adjust their release windows (related to new DDF schedule and academic outreach)
 - Casey: still need to make release plan, might not need to atten the JRM Meeting
 - Randy: premature to go, revisit in 3-6 months after things settle
 - Casey: other communities are trying to coordinate release windows

Action items
