- Daniel Pono Takamori Update on the Jira GitHub transition
- Discussion of next steps after the transitions are complete

Minutes

- Pono update
 - Need a PR +1 so it'll land
 - Risk of YOLO merging now w/only 1 review?
 - Very low; passing tests & fixes stuff
 - Gerrit is now read-only, so GitHub is primary
 - Will include a Jenkins file today so Jenkins will work (Progmatic will wire it up on their end)
 - Ticket in for easyCLA
 - Concern: It's org-wide to enable this, not repo level
 - Sounds like they'll need to modify the code to make it happen
 - Doesn't sound like it'd be a lot of time, but who knows
- Jira update
 - Not able to make a lot progress (was sick)
 - Still evaluating which scripts to use to transfer Jira tickets
 - Usual ones require admin on Jira; rather not do that
 - Once that's done, will create a Jira component "See GitHub" or some such then mark all the tickets with that
 - Also close out the tickets
 - Expect to have it done next week
- Transition Summary
 - Jenkins will be done
 - Issues will be done
 - easyCLA outstanding
 - MEANS: We won't be able to accept patches from anyone who hasn't already signed the CLA
 - Can also just directly link people to easyCLA to sign it
- Next steps after the transitions
 - Given that there is a lot of work to be done around getting documentation updated to new releases
 - With finite resources how should we prioritize?
 - put transition docs on the back burner
 - focus on the MVP
 - will allow more contributors to documentation
 - more contributors to TF in general
 - reformulate what's relevant to GitHub
 - have new info for GH workflow
 - focus on relevance to Documentation project/ team
 - hinges on repo migrations
 - info around MVP in meeting notes
 - minimum docs set to enable easier contributions to docs
 - teach Juniper docs team to contribute to TF
 - cancelled docs hackathon @ Juniper

⚠️ Unable to locate Jira server for this macro. It may be due to Application Link configuration.
